

VOLUME 1, ISSUE 14I'm White, so I'm Racist - the Basis of CRT

An example of what has become a recurring and pervasive situation in schools throughout our nation is happening in Falls Church, Virginia. Last month, a weekly course entitled "AC-1608: How to Be an Antiracist Educator" was introduced to the teachers at the high school, and while we would all agree that being against racism is something that we seek to be and want others to be, that is something which this program is not actually trying to accomplish. One of the modules in the program is titled "Exploring and Understanding Whiteness" and includes a podcast by Bettina Love, the founder of the radical Abolitionist Teaching Network, whose core philosophy is that America's schools, in particular its white teachers, are "spirit murdering" black children. The teachers also have to study the ideas of Glenn Singleton regarding "The Sixth Condition - Let's Talk about Whiteness", which points out that "whiteness" is a problem.

A spokeswoman for the Fairfax County Public Schools said that Critical Race Theory (CRT) is not in the course and insists that the ideas of CRT are not present within the curriculum, but Parents Defending Education did an analysis of the class syllabus and found the topics of study actually do include those very concepts. Calling them a different name or title doesn't change the fact that the ideas incorporated DO exist and ARE being promulgated.

Parents nationwide are being deceived regarding the inclusion of Critical Race Theory in their children's school subjects. It is a destructive, racist movement that is causing division, hate, shame, and intimidation wherever it is embraced. So, even though the National School Boards Association and U.S. Attorney General Garland call parents "domestic terrorists" when they confront their local school boards, and even though Virginia's democratic candidate for governor Terry McAuliffe claimed, "I don't think parents should be telling schools what they should teach," we know that we not only have the right to be involved in these decisions, we MUST be involved. We need to let our school board know that we care about what our children are taught and that we are not going to be silenced or intimidated or ignored. We need to submit FOIA (freedom of information act) requests for access to school curriculums to look for and request removal of any material that embraces CRT.

Parents Against Critical Race Theory | National Review
<https://www.city-journal.org/what-is-critical-race-theory-https://www.prageru.com/video/what-is-critical-race>

Here are 4 grassroots groups you can look into for more information:

<https://defendinged.org>
moms for liberty.org
No Left Turn
Fight for Schools

Stay Tuned-In with Superintendent Burke's Weekly Report

<<Current information including Covid numbers and education reports>>

Each Monday, Superintendent Burke provides an update:

1. Go to SDR website (<https://www.rhineland.k12.wi.us>)>District>District Information>...
 - a) ...>Communication and News>Superintendent News for video format (2 most recent are available); (<https://www.rhineland.k12.wi.us/district/Superintendent.cfm>)
 - b) ...>Covid-19 Resources and Updates>Update from Eric Burke for written form (the current is available, more details than video, may include links); (<https://www.rhineland.k12.wi.us/district/covid-19.cfm>)
2. Go to the School District's Facebook page. (<https://www.facebook.com/SDRHodags>) for both the video and written form.